13 4.3 Read and listen to the text about English people's homes abroad.

An Englishman's home ...

'An Englishman's home,' they say, 'is his castle.'
Perhaps that's true, but nowadays the home often isn't in England – it's abroad!

More than half a million British people have a second home in another country. Many buy old houses in the south of France or in Tuscany, in the north of Italy. The Eurostar train, which goes from London to Paris in two and a half hours, makes it easy to go from one home to the other quickly.

The Noteman family, who live in London, have got a small house in Gascony. They sometimes go there for weekends and they always spend the summer in France with their four children. Jerry Noteman says, 'We really like living in France: the weather is usually good, we like the food and the people are very friendly. We don't usually speak French when we go out — most of our neighbours in the village are English, too!'

Who celebrates Annaprashan?

Annaprashan is a special day for Hindu families with a young baby. Annaprashan happens in many different countries all over the world, including India, Nepal, Sri Lanka, Indonesia and Mauritius.

What is Annaprashan?

In English, the Annaprashan ceremony is called 'First rice'.
The family meets and it is the first time the baby has food. The baby eats rice with milk and sugar.

What do babies eat?

When babies are very young, they can only drink their mother's milk. But when they are about six months old, they need different kinds of food. They need vitamins and protein. There are a lot of vitamins and protein in fish. But it isn't a good baby food because fish bones are dangerous. When babies are six months old, they don't have teeth, so they need very soft food. Rice is soft and healthy and babies usually like rice.

What happens at an Annaprashan ceremony?

The baby sits with his or her mother. First, a man from the baby's family (an uncle or grandfather) gives the baby some food on a spoon. Then the rest of the family give the baby more food. And then they play a game: the baby chooses a toy and plays with it, and the adults decide the baby's future job!

The Strange Soldier

It was a beautiful sunny morning in Mexico City. The date was October 10th, the year was 1593.

In the main square of the city, soldiers stood in front of the Royal Palace. The people of the city came and went as usual. But there was something strange about one of the soldiers: he wore a different uniform from the others. When the other soldiers saw him, they began asking him questions. 'Who are you? Where are you from?' one of the other soldiers asked. 'I am a Spanish soldier,' he answered, 'and because the governor died last night, it is my job to stay in front of the palace here.' 'The governor?' one of the soldiers replied, 'Which governor?' 'The governor of Manila, of course.'

The other soldiers told him he was in Mexico City – thousands of kilometres from the city of Manila. The young soldier was amazed and had no idea how he came to be in a city so far from his home.

Nobody believed his strange story. In the end, they put the young man in prison, and left him there until they decided what to do.

Two months later, a Spanish ship arrived from Manila. It brought news that the governor of Manila was dead – and the time of his death was 10 p.m. on the evening of October 9th, 1593. Was the young man's story true?

Four hundred years later, no one knows how it was possible for a man to travel across the world in one night ... without knowing how or why.

b The governor of Manila died.
c They put the strange soldier in prison.
d A ship from Manila arrived in Mexico City.

National heroes

Mustafa Kemal Atatürk

Mustafa Kemal Atatürk is the father of modern Turkey. He was born in 1881. He chose the army as a career and in 1915, during the First World War, he led the Turkish army at Gelibolu and Istanbul. By the end of the war, he was a hero and from that time on, all of the Turkish people supported him. He led the Turkish army in the War of Independence (1919–1922) and in 1923, he became the first president of the new Republic of Turkey. During the last 15 years of his life, Atatürk introduced many reforms and did many things to improve life in Turkey. He died in November 1938, but today the people of Turkey still think of him with great respect.

Florence Nightingale

A hundred and fifty years ago, most nurses did not study nursing.

But a British woman called Florence Nightingale tried to change all that. In the 1850s, she worked in a hospital for wounded soldiers in the Crimea (now Ukraine). People say she never slept, but spent all her time helping the men. The soldiers called her 'The Lady of the Lamp' because of the lamp she always carried as she walked around at night. When she returned to England, she began a school of nursing in London. She died in 1910.

Listen and read

11.1 Listen and read the text about the animal world.

The animal world

Me do not know how many species of animal there are, as people are discovering new ones all the time. But most scientists think that there are about ten million different animal species in the world.

Giraffes are the tallest animals on Earth. A large adult male giraffe can be up to six metres tall. Thanks to its long legs and neck, it can eat the leaves from the tops of trees.

The smallest animals are called protozoa, which have only one cell and are so small that we cannot see them without a powerful microscope.

The smallest mammal is Savi's pygmy shrew - it is only six centimetres long, including its tail.

The goliath frog (Rana Goliath) of West Africa can be up to 75 centimetres long and weighs about 3 kilograms. The goliath beetle is probably the world's largest beetle; it weighs more than 100 grams - about the same as two eggs.

The ostrich is the world's largest bird. An adult ostrich is more than 2.5 metres tall, but it cannot fly.

The bee hummingbird is probably the world's smallest bird. It is just five centimetres long and weighs less than two grams. It can stay still in the air by moving its wings 20 to 50 times a second. One of the largest birds which can fly is the South American condor; its wings are three metres from end

There are more than 50 different types of kangaroo in Australia. When it is born, a baby kangaroo is less than 2.5 centimetres long; but an adult kangaroo can grow to more than two metres in height.

In the mid-1860s, there were about 13 million bison living in North America. By the mid-1880s, there were only a few hundred. Today, there are about 500,000 bison in America, living in special parks.

Ships of the desert

Perhaps they aren't the most beautiful animals in the world, but in the hot lands of North Africa and the Middle East they are certainly one of the most useful. But how much do you know about camels? Camels normally live for about 40 years, but they usually stop working when they are about 25.

Camels don't normally like running – it's too hot – but when they need to, they can run at 20 kilometres an hour.

The dromedary, or Arabian camel, has got one hump. The Bactrian, or Asian camel, has longer hair and has got two humps. There are about 14 million camels in the world and most of them are dromedaries. An adult camel is about 2.1 metres tall and weighs about 500 kilograms. Camels can walk for more than 600 kilometres without drinking. They only need to drink water every six or eight days. But when there is water, they can drink up to 90 litres!

The world weather report

March 15th

There was heavy snow and windy weather in Chicago on Monday and there was also heavy rain on the west coast of the United States, particularly in and around the city of San Francisco.

Things were no better on the other side of the world, in Australia. There was extremely heavy rain in the state of Queensland, with 475 mm of rain falling in just five days.

In south-west Europe, there was more hot, sunny weather with the town of Jerez de la Frontera in the south of Spain the hottest place. The temperature was 30 degrees, the warmest so far this year. It wasn't all good news in Europe, however. There was heavy snow in the Balkans and parts of northeastern Italy on Monday and Tuesday. Things are getting a little better in the city of Irkutsk, in eastern Siberia, however: the temperature went above zero degrees for the first time since last November.

More and more people in the UK are getting \(\frac{\into}{\into} \) / at university. In the past, men often applied \(\frac{2}{\into} \int \frac{\into}{\into} \) / be nurses and teachers. More women are now doing courses \(\frac{5}{\into} \int \frac{\into}{\into} \) engineering, maths and information technology.

At university, women do better than men. More men than women fail their ⁶*universities* / exams. And more women ⁷*get* / give a degree (50 percent of women, but only 40 percent of men). So one thing is difficult to understand: why do men ⁸*earn* / do more money than women?

Listen and read

9a 13.3 Read and listen to the text about the five ages of English.

The five ages of English

1 Old English

From about the 9th century, the Vikings, who lived in what is now Sweden, Norway and Denmark, began to arrive in the north of England. The language people spoke began to change. In the south of England, people began to translate books from Latin into English.

2 Middle English

In 1066, the Normans invaded England and French became the official language. Most educated people had to speak three languages: French, Latin and English. At this time, English literature began to develop. One of the most famous writers was the poet Geoffrey Chaucer, in the 14th century. His language is a little like the English of today.

3 Early Modern English (1450-1750)

This period includes the time of William Shakespeare, England's greatest writer. By the end of the 17th century, great scientists like Isaac Newton wrote in English, not in Latin. The British Empire began and the English language travelled across the Atlantic to North America and across Asia to India.

4 Modern English (1750-1950)

English was now a national language. The first dictionary, Johnson's Dictionary, appeared in 1755 and the first grammar books appeared soon after. As the British Empire grew in the 19th century, English became a more international language. People began to learn English around the world. The first English language textbooks appeared in the 1930s.

5 Late Modern English (from 1950)

Now, English language teaching is an important international industry. After World War II, the United States became the most important economic and cultural power in the world and a world market in audio-visual communication began. CNN International began in 1989 and the internet developed in the 1990s. English became a global language, with about two billion speakers.

14.3 Read and listen to the text about how three people keep in touch with friends and family.

Keeping in toucl

I love technology. When there's a new kind of tablet computer or a new smartphone in the shops, I have to buy it. A lot of people my age don't do that - I'm 76. I never throw them away, but I keep them in my home. I even keep the old ones that I don't use.

I only use one mobile, one tablet and one desktop computer. I use them a lot - I download films and music and I use social networking sites a lot. It's a good way to keep in touch with old friends. And it's helped me to make a lot of new friends, too.

Gerry

I live in Toronto, but my son and his kids live in New Zealand. I go there or they come to visit me every year. But we speak most days - video chat helps us to stay in touch. I think the kids - my grandchildren - like speaking to me on the screen.

They're always very chatty and sociable.

But when we meet in Toronto or in New Zealand, they're shy. When I was young, my friends and I met and talked. Now young people go online. The world's changing!

Delvin

I love people and I hate computers. My only phone is a landline. Landline phones were OK for my parents and my grandparents, and they're OK for me! I like to meet my friends, neighbours and family. When

I want to talk to someone, I go to their home. If they're in, we have a chat. If they're not there, I come back home. I don't mind - I like walking! My sons and my grandchildren are always saying, 'Come on, you have to get a computer, you have to get a mobile - then you can do video chat!' Well, I don't want to use mobiles and computers and smartphones and the internet! I'm happy as I am.

UNIT 7 RECORDING 5

Seventy years ago, Amelia Earhart was America's favourite woman. In 1932, she flew across the Atlantic Ocean alone: the first woman to do this.

Her journey started in Newfoundland, Canada: fifteen hours later, her Lockheed Vega aeroplane arrived in Londonderry, Northern Ireland. People all over the world wanted to meet this incredible woman. She met King George V of England and became friends with the US President, Franklin D. Roosevelt. The American people loved her.

Five years later, Amelia tried to fly around the world. An American University gave her $50,000 for a new Lockheed Electra aeroplane. On the morning of July 2nd 1937, Amelia and her co-pilot, Fred Noonan left Lae, in New Guinea, and began their journey to Howland Island in the Pacific Ocean.

On July 3rd 1937, the American ship Itasca received a radio message from Amelia: a few minutes later her plane disappeared. American ships spent nearly two weeks looking for the plane, but they found nothing.

On Saturday, I got up late. It was a nice day, so I went for a walk. Then my friend phoned and said, 'Do you want to go to a party tonight?'

I said, 'Great! Let's go out for dinner first.' We had a great evening. On Sunday, I wanted to do something – maybe go to the theatre or perhaps go to the cinema. But I was very tired, so I didn't go out. I just stayed at home and read a book. Sometimes you need to rest!
