GEEKS AND SUPERHEROES

Do you like comics? In the 1950s and 60s, many teenagers used to read comics like Batman, Superman or X Men. Some were so fascinated by comics that they would continue reading them when they grew up. They were comic 'geeks': intelligent, often unsociable young people who identified more with the worlds of fantasy and science fiction than the real world. Geeks still exist today; in the popular TV comedy series The Big Bang Theory, the main characters are science geeks who are big fans of comics, fantasy games and Comic-Con.

Comic-Con doesn't try to make money. In fact it describes itself as a non-profit organisation that exists to make comics and related art forms more popular through conventions and events. In 1970, a group of about 100 comic fans got together in San Diego, California for the first Comic-Con, or convention. They decided to include not only comics, but also other aspects of popular culture, including fantasy and science-fiction games, books and films from all over the world. Within 30 years, Comic-Con had grown into a huge three-day international convention, with over 120,000 visitors every year. Today there are exhibitions, comics to buy, games to play, educational sessions, talks, a film festival, and even an awards ceremony known as the 'Oscars' of the comic industry.

Nowadays, there are comic conventions all over the world, but Comic-Con is the most iconic. It attracts famous film stars, writers and artists from the world of comics. Many of the fans who visit it wear costumes of comic book characters, and sometimes famous stars wear a disguise too so they can wander round the convention like all the other fans. In 2014, Daniel Radcliffe walked around Comic-Con dressed in a Spiderman costume with a face mask, and no one recognised him. So if you go to Comic-Con, you never know who might be next to you!

2 ★★ Complete the sentences with the words in bold from the text.

- 1 He's a really good footballer and has won a lot of Player of the Year _____.
- 2 My sister and her friends spend all their time on maths problems. They are such _____!

 - b in 1970
- 3 What can you see at Comic-Con today?
 - a lots of different things
 - b comics, games, books and TV comedy programmes
- 4 How can famous people become 'invisible' at Comic-Con?
 - a by behaving like all the other fans
 - b by wearing a disguise

4 ★★ Read the article again. Who or what is each sentence about?

- 1 Teenagers started reading them in the 1950s and 60s. _____ comics
- 2 They preferred a fantasy world to real life. _____
- 3 Its aim is to make the worlds of fantasy and science fiction better known. _____
- 4 The 100 people who met in San Diego in 1970 for the first convention. _____
- 5 This is what Comic-Con has become. _____
- 6 There are more than a hundred thousand of these. _____

Reading

- 1 ★ Read the article about Lady Gaga’s charity. What is the charity’s message?
- a ‘Different is best’
 - b ‘Accept individual differences’
 - c ‘Singing is good for you’

BORN THIS WAY

Stefani Germanotta, better known as Lady Gaga, is famous for her extravagant style. She has always been different, and she says that’s why she was bullied when she was at secondary school. Gaga has told the media that other pupils made fun of her for being ugly, being fat, having a big nose, being annoying, having a funny laugh and being weird. She was also constantly asked why she always sang, why she was so keen on theatre and why she did her make-up the way she did. Gaga has said that sometimes it got so bad she didn’t even want to go to school.

Since then Lady Gaga has become rich, famous and successful for some of the things she was once bullied about, so she decided to try and help young people who found themselves in the situation she was in at school. In 2011, she and her mother Cynthia started a non-profit organisation called the Born This Way Foundation, (BTWF). Its aim is to build a society where people accept each other’s differences and individuality. Gaga wants to bring young people together to create a new kind of community, based on three things: safety, and the skills and opportunities to make a kinder, braver world.

For many teenagers who are bullied, home is no escape because the bullying continues online. Lady Gaga has met Barack Obama to discuss action against cyber-bullying, and also demands more moderators on social media sites.

BTWF has been helping young people to set up ‘Born Brave’ school and community groups. The aim of these is to encourage young people to be more tolerant. The charity wants everyone to feel safe in their community, school, home, wherever they live, and to develop the skills they need to live in peace with other people.

- 2 ★★ Match the words in bold in the text with the definitions.
- 1 accepting that people are different _____
 - 2 say horrible things about _____
 - 3 people who delete bad comments on social media sites _____
 - 4 being cruel to or hurting someone weaker _____
 - 5 strange or unusual _____

- You were having a lot of trouble with a subject at school.
- You did an exchange with a student in another country.
- You were often bored after school.
- You were finding concentrating on your homework very difficult.

WRITE

10 Write your thank you email. Look at page 27 of the Student's Book to help you.

This image shows a blank sheet of white paper with horizontal ruling lines. The lines are evenly spaced and extend across the width of the page. There are no margins, text, or other markings on the paper.

CHECK

11 Check your writing. Can you say YES to these questions?

- Have you used the ideas in Exercise 8?
- Have you used feel and find to express your feelings?
- Have you written a sentence with an -ing form at the beginning?
- Have you used -ed and -ing adjectives correctly?
- Have you used some sentences which talk directly to the reader?
- Are the spelling and punctuation correct?

Do you need to write a second draft?

Hi James,

I'm so happy that you can come to my sister's wedding 😊. Here is some ~~advices~~ ^{advice} about weddings in my country. First, you should arrive the day before the wedding. I advice you to take the train from the airport and I'll come to meet you at the station. Another piece of advise is that you should bring a present for the bride. Something traditional from your country. You should wear formal clothes and my advise is that you should wear a tie. Also, we will dance all night, so an important piece of ~~advices~~ is that you should wear comfortable shoes! If you are worried about anything, write to me and I will send you some more ~~advices~~. Don't worry!

See you soon!

Maria

TEENAGE ACHIEVERS

Angela Zhang recently finished high school in California, but she has already won a $100,000 award to study at university for her research on a nanoparticle system for treating cancer. Angela said she started developing the project in her first year at high school, reading bio-engineering articles and attending scientific talks. Later on, she did research in a laboratory at Stanford, where she successfully tested the system on mice. It might be years before we know if the system will work on humans, but she may be on the way to finding a cure for cancer. When she's not doing that, Angela is like any typical teenager. She loves buying shoes, and in her free time goes canoeing and walking.

Santiago Gonzalez is a 14-year-old computer scientist from Colorado, USA. He already attends university, and will graduate at 16, and complete his master's degree at 17. He's fluent in a dozen programming languages, and says that when he has a difficult programming problem, he will often dream the solution. Santiago happily calls himself a geek, and says that for him learning is as essential as eating. When he's not studying, he writes mobile apps. He's already developed about 15, including puzzles and games. His ambition is to work at Apple.

Charley Hull started playing golf when she was only 2, and was soon beating golfers much older than her. She had her first big success aged 9, when she won the English Amateur Ladies Championship. She started home schooling at 13 so she could travel to tournaments. In 2013, aged 17, Charley turned professional, and was voted the best new player, or 'rookie', of the European Tour. On the golf course, she's incredibly determined. Friends say, 'She's going to be world number 1!', and experts agree it may not take her very long. Off the golf course, she loves music, parties and being with her friends.

An opinion essay

1 Read the essay. Does the author agree or disagree with the opinion in the essay title?

School leavers should attend university before they start working. Do you agree?

The best students go to university. That's what everyone has always told us. ¹Firstly, / However, I don't think all school leavers should go to university before they start working.

²In conclusion, / Firstly, we have to ask ourselves why we would want to send all school leavers to do a university course. ³Although / However, these courses can be very useful and students can learn a lot, not all students are capable of studying at the level required by universities to become scientists, teachers or lawyers. ⁴In addition, / Whereas we also need people who are going to work in factories, repair machines or grow things for us to eat – important technical skills that don't require a degree.

Finally, ⁵in addition, / whereas there are a lot of school leavers who want to continue studying at a higher level, there are many who would rather start working immediately or do training for a practical skill. Not everyone wants to go to university.

⁶In conclusion, / In addition, I don't agree that all school leavers should go to university. A degree is the logical path for many students, but it's definitely not the only path.

2 Read the essay again. Tick (✓) the points the author makes.

- 1 Students can get a lot of knowledge from university courses. ☒
- 2 Not every school leaver wants to continue studying. ☐
- 3 Many school leavers don't have the correct academic level for university. ☐
- 4 Universities are often very expensive and not everyone can afford them. ☐
- 5 As well as professional people with university degrees, we also need people with other skills. ☐

Reading

- 1 ★ Read the article about food in space. Is it still very different from food on Earth?

WHAT'S ON THE SPACE MENU TODAY?

Space food used to be boring. Astronauts ate food in bland powders and small cubes, and drank thick liquids from metal tubes. It was like science fiction. If you go into space nowadays, though, you'll eat lots of real food. The International Space Station, or ISS, has astronauts from the USA, Russia, Canada, Europe, China and Japan, who all like different things and eat three meals a day in a personalised menu which repeats every eight days. Each person selects their food in tasting sessions before they go into space, and nowadays there are a wide variety of tasty meals and snacks to choose from. The astronauts can choose from pasta or rice, fruit, vegetables, cereal, soup, meat, seafood, yoghurt, nuts, biscuits and more. Drinks include coffee, teas and fruit juice, but no fizzy drinks.

Space food comes in disposable packages, and how much preparation it needs on the space station depends on the kind of food. Some foods, like biscuits and fruit, can be eaten out of the packet. Others, such as scrambled eggs, macaroni cheese or rice, are mixed with water, and some, like meat, need to be heated up. There's an oven on the space station to bake things, but there's no fridge, so the food must be carefully prepared and vacuum-packed on Earth so that it will stay fresh.

One strange effect of the microgravity in space is that astronauts have a reduced sense of taste, so all food tastes blander than it would on Earth. For that reason, salty or spicy seasoning is really important. Astronauts use a lot of sauces, like chilli pepper sauce, soy sauce, ketchup, mayonnaise and mustard. Salt and pepper are available too, but only in liquid form. If astronauts sprinkled salt and pepper on their food in space like we do on Earth, it would just float away, and it could damage equipment or get stuck in an astronaut's eyes or nose. Although eating in space nowadays isn't quite like science fiction, it's still not easy!

- 2 ★ Complete the definitions with the correct form of the words in bold from the text.

- We usually use _____ things once and then throw them away.
- Food which is _____ is really good to eat.
- When something moves easily up through the air, like a balloon, it _____.
- Salt, pepper, spices and herbs are different kinds of _____.
- When we _____ seasoning on food, we gently drop powder or liquid over it.

- 3 ★★ Read the article again and answer the questions.

- Why did food in space use to be like science fiction?
Because it was all in powders, small cubes and metal tubes.
- Why does each astronaut have their own personalised menu?

- Why do they have tasting sessions?

- Why is seasoning important in space?

- Why is salt and pepper on the space station liquid?

- 4 ★★ Complete the information for new astronauts with the words in the box.

Writing

Describing a local dish

1 Read the description of a local dish. What's the connection between the dish in the picture and the weather in Ireland?

I'm from Ireland and there are two things we love: potatoes and lamb. We eat lots of potatoes and there are lots of sheep in Ireland, so Irish stew is one of our favourite dishes. A stew ¹ consists of meat and vegetables which are cooked together slowly in a tasty sauce. Irish stew ² _____ lamb, potatoes, carrots and onions. It has everything, but it is often ³ _____ with thick slices of brown bread spread with lots of butter.

Nobody knows who first made Irish stew but because the weather in Ireland is cold and wet, people usually eat a stew on a cold, rainy day. Traditional Irish cooking has many different kinds of stews – with beef, lamb, sausages or fish. People used to make stew over a fire but now it's easier to make on a cooker!

Irish stew is ⁴ _____ in pubs and restaurants all around Ireland, and it's not just for tourists! If you ever go to Ireland, it will probably rain, so try Irish stew for lunch to keep you warm.

2 Read the description again. Answer the questions.

- Which two ingredients in Irish stew do Irish people particularly like?
They like potatoes and lamb.
- What are the other ingredients of Irish stew?

- Who invented Irish stew?

- What other ingredients might you find in stews in Ireland?

- How did they make Irish stew in the past?

- Where can you eat it?

5 ★★★ Have you got or seen any clockwork gadgets? Would you use any of the gadgets in the article? Which one(s) and why?

SAY BYE BYE TO BATTERIES

Before watches with batteries were invented in the 1950s, all watches were clockwork – you had to wind them every day or they stopped. Clockwork devices had been around for centuries, but when batteries and electricity came along, clockwork was forgotten. Then, in the 1990s, British inventor Trevor Baylis invented a clockwork radio which could be used in parts of Africa where there was no electricity, or where electricity was much too expensive for most people. This quickly became extremely popular throughout Africa and Asia.

Baylis' radio has a handle which you turn to charge a generator inside the radio. There are no batteries, but when the generator is fully wound it produces enough electricity to run for 8 hours. On more sophisticated devices, a rechargeable battery is charged when the handle is turned. Baylis designed his products for countries with little or no electricity, but nowadays clockwork gadgets are also used in Europe and America by eco-friendly people who want to use less electricity.

Here are just a few of the gadgets available:

Bicycle Light

1 minute of winding gives 90 minutes of light, with 1 or 3 LED bulbs. When fully charged, the light works for 5 hours. It comes with a clamp to fix easily onto your bike.

LED Torch

The torch gives 8 hours constant light on full charge – nearly 20 minutes winding. It is designed to be waterproof and strong and won't stop working if you drop it. It even has an emergency mobile phone charger and adaptors for all popular phones!

Eco-friendly Media Player

This is an MP3 Player, ebook reader and photo viewer. The clockwork system means that you won't run out of power or use batteries that harm the environment. 1 minute of winding gives 40 minutes of play time (up to 6 hours fully charged) – great for the beach or camping. It can also be charged normally through your computer.

Thanks to Baylis, clockwork gadgets are saving money, saving energy and saving the planet!

1 ★ Read the travel website about New Year destinations. Match the cities with the pictures (1–6).

Seeing in the New Year

Do you dream of spending New Year's Eve somewhere exciting? Here are some suggestions of iconic places to celebrate New Year. Take your pick!

New York City, USA – Pictures 4 and ____.

Over a million people participate in celebrations all over the city, but the most famous place to see in the New Year is Times Square. The tradition began in 1904, but the 'ball drop' started in 1907, when setting off fireworks was banned. At exactly 11.59 pm, a large ball, illuminated with bright lights, is lowered down the side of the Times Tower building, and 60 seconds later it stops to signal the end of one year and the beginning of the next. The ball drop has become famous all over the world, and nowadays there are fireworks, too! It's crowded but cold, so wear a coat, hat and scarf.

Click here for more information

Rio de Janeiro, Brazil – Pictures ____ and ____.

Because it's summer in Brazil, Copacabana Beach in Rio has one of the biggest New Year's Eve parties in the world. Many people wear white clothes to symbolise a new start, and some people bathe in the sea or float candles on the water. Over 2 million people stand on the shore to view the totally stunning fireworks display at midnight. Of course there's also traditional Samba music and dancing to make sure you have a good time!

Click here for more information

Edinburgh, Scotland – Pictures ____ and ____.

Hogmanay is the Scottish name for New Year's Eve, a very important celebration in Scotland. Edinburgh's Hogmanay is a three-day event which starts with a colourful Torchlight Procession, music and fireworks. Then there's a Keilidh, a traditional party with Scottish music and dancing, as well as a pop concert and a street party. At midnight on New Year's Eve, join 80,000 people singing the traditional New Year's song, Auld Lang Syne, based on a Scottish poem and folk song. On New Year's Day, there's the Loony Dook, a (quick!) swim in the freezing River Forth in aid of charity, or you could just go down to the beach to watch!

Writing

A description

- 1 Read Tania's description.
What was the party for and who went?

It was our last year in school and most of us would be going to university or trying to find a job. Our class decided to have a party and luckily the school let us use the school hall. We put up some decorations and our parents made some food, which was all ¹ so delicious!

Everybody dressed up for the occasion – it was ² _____ funny to see all my classmates in party clothes. First, we watched a video one of our classmates had made with photos of us all from previous years – my friend Chloe said it was ³ _____ sad and she started to cry! Then the head teacher came and made a short speech, wishing us all good luck and she told us not to be ⁴ _____ noisy!

After that, the DJ played the music we all like and we danced until 9 o'clock. It was ⁵ _____ amazing! Some of my friends went to Sam Carter's house after the party but I was ⁶ _____ tired, so Chloe and I walked home. It was a great night!

- 2 Read the description again. Answer the questions.

- Where did they have the party?
They had the party in the school hall.
- Who made the food?

- What did Tania find funny?

- Why did Chloe start to cry?

- What did the head teacher tell them to do?

- Why didn't Tania go to the party at Sam Carter's house?

Useful language so or too + adjective —

- 3 Complete Tania's description with so or too.

- 4 Circle the correct words.

- All the presents I was given were so / too amazing!
- We wanted to invite Amy but it was so / too late. She'd already made plans.
- We thought the fireworks would be so / too noisy but nobody complained.
- Greg is so / too creative – he has lots of ideas for the party.
- At the beginning it was a bit so / too quiet but then I put some music on.

DO IT YOURSELF

Anna Caltabiano was born in Hong Kong to a Japanese mother and an Italian-American father, and spoke Mandarin Chinese at school. Then she moved to Palo Alto, California.

An only child, Anna loved reading, and started writing short stories as soon as she could write. She wasn't very sociable, and she had a weird habit of talking out loud to herself, so every year her parents signed her up for summer camp, which she hated, so she could make friends.

Then, when she was thirteen, Anna made a deal with her parents: instead of summer camp, she would stay at home and write a novel. They could have said no but, surprisingly, they agreed. Of course, if her parents had said no, she probably wouldn't have published her first novel at 14. Every morning that summer, Anna sat at the table with her tablet and a cup of tea. She used a short story she'd written, and worked in an unusual way. First she drew pictures of her ideas, then she wrote them down. She wrote dialogue by texting it to herself on her mobile phone. It wasn't the 'normal' way to write a novel, but it helped her to develop the plot and the action.

The setting for All That Is Red is a futuristic world, like something from a dream, where 'red' and 'white' are fighting a war. Anna uses red to represent human emotions, and white to represent 'nothingness', the complete absence of things. In the story, the main character doesn't know which side she belongs to and is stuck between these two worlds. It's a fantasy story, but the theme relates to how teenagers feel growing up.

Originally, Anna thought just writing the book would be enough, but then she realised she wanted other people to read it. After hundreds of rejection letters from publishers, most people might have given up, but Anna decided to publish it herself, with great success! She has now finished a second novel The Seventh Miss Hatfield, another fantasy involving immortality and time travel, and is writing another. Not bad for 17!

2 ★★ Complete the sentences with the correct form of the words in bold from the text.

- Mara, can you read your story _____ to the class? Listen everyone.
- The _____ of this book is Cambridge University Press.
- Let's _____. If I help you with the Maths homework, you can help me with English.
- Science-fiction novels are always set in a(n) _____ society, often on other planets.
- After getting three _____ from universities, she was finally accepted by another.

3 ★★ Read the profile again. Complete the table with information about Anna.

Name	Anna Caltabiano
Age
Family
Place of birth
Home
Education
Hobbies
Books

4 ★★ Answer the questions.

- Why did Anna's parents send her to summer camp every summer?
Because they wanted her to make friends.
- What was the deal that Anna made with her parents?

- What is unusual about how she writes?

- What is the theme of her first book?

- What happened after she received the rejection letters?

5 ★★★ Would you be interested in reading Anna's books? Why/Why not? Have you ever read any books by a teenage author? Which? What was it like? If you wrote a book, what kind would you write?

Telling a story

1 Read Christine's story. What happened to her?

It was a really windy day but my dad said because it was Sunday, we should go for a walk. He wanted to go to the beach, but we went to the park because my mum said it might be less windy there. My sister and I were walking a little bit ahead of our parents when, ¹luckily / suddenly, we heard a really loud noise. A huge branch from a tree had crashed to the ground behind us.

I ²immediately / eventually turned around. I couldn't see my parents and, ³obviously / fortunately, I thought the branch had fallen on them. I panicked a bit at first but then I realised that, ⁴luckily / suddenly, they had stopped to look at the ducks and the branch had missed them.

Just then, we saw a man climbing out from under the leaves. ⁵Eventually / Amazingly, he wasn't hurt because, ⁶obviously / fortunately for him, only the lighter parts of the branch had fallen on him.

⁷Eventually / Amazingly, the firefighters came and cut the branch into smaller pieces and moved it out of the way. It could have been a lot worse. That man was so lucky, he could have been killed by that branch.

2 Read the story again. Put the events in the correct order.

- a Christine turned around to look for her parents. _____

AMATEUR DETECTIVE

Not many people get the chance to be an amateur sleuth, but that's exactly what happened to American teenager Jessica Maple. What's more, she actually solved the crime before the police.

A few weeks after Jessica's great-grandmother died, there was a robbery at her house, and some furniture was stolen. When the police investigated the robbery, they looked around the house. Because they didn't see any broken windows or doors, they quickly decided that there had been no forced entry, and that the thieves must have had a key to the house. Jessica didn't agree. She knew that there were only two keys, and her parents had one each. So she decided to investigate the crime herself.

First, she went to her great-grandmother's house to look for clues. At the side of the house was a garage, and it turned out that the garage windows had been broken. When Jessica looked inside, she saw that everything in the garage was on the floor, so the thieves must have been in there. When she looked more carefully, she found fingerprints in the dirt around the window.

Then Jessica had an idea. She knew there was a second-hand furniture store near her great-grandmother's house, so she went to look for the stolen furniture. Amazingly, it was all there on sale. So she told the shop manager who it belonged to, and explained that thieves had stolen it. The manager told Jessica that he knew who the thieves were, because they had often brought him furniture. When Jessica asked what their names were, he told her, and even found their addresses for her. Jessica took all the evidence she'd collected to the police, who were amazed!

That wasn't the end of the story though. Jessica and her mother visited one of the robbers and asked him why he'd done it. Although he denied the offence at first, he finally admitted that it was him. Jessica had solved the crime! She told reporters that she had learned her investigative skills at a camp that summer, but she hadn't expected to use them quite so soon!

ROCKVILLE SHOPLIFTERS?

Recently, there have been some reports in the local newspaper about shoplifting in the area around our school. The reports suggest that our friends and classmates may be responsible. Is it true? Are students from Rockville School really stealing from the local shops? We went to find out.

First, we carried out a survey among students at the school to find out if anyone was involved in activities like stealing. In fact, well ¹ over 90% of the students said they had never stolen anything in their lives and about ² _____ quarters of them said that they had an excellent relationship with the shop owners near the school.

So we asked the shop owners what they thought. Two ³ _____ of them, a clear majority, insisted that they thought the shoplifting wasn't really done by students from our school. Only ⁴ _____ five of them complained that Rockville students make a lot of noise in the shops, but ⁵ _____ under 90% of them (88%) admitted that the relationship was actually excellent and the students' behaviour was generally very good.

So now everyone wants to know why the local newspaper is suggesting that Rockville students are stealing from shops around the school. The investigation continues.

Reported statements – say and tell

Remember that:

- we use say + (that) clause to report statements.
We do not include a direct object.
✓ He said he would never do it again.
✗ He said me he would never do it again.
- we use tell + direct object + (that) clause to report statements.
✓ The robber told reporters he was innocent.
✗ The bank robber told he was innocent.
- we use told and not said to report that someone communicated something, such as a story, a lie, the truth or a secret.
✓ My sister told me a lie.
✗ My sister said me a lie.

1 Find and correct five more mistakes with say and tell in the email.

Hi Marco,

I've got a problem. Last weekend, I went to a party. I ^{told} said my mum and dad I was doing homework with Maria. I know I shouldn't have said a lie, but I knew they would tell I couldn't go to the party. The exams are soon! Anyway, the party was in the house next door to my dad's friend's house. He saw me and he said my mum that I was there. When my mum told what she had heard, I said it wasn't true. I don't think they believe me. I feel really bad! If I say them that I lied, they'll be very angry. What should I do?

Reported questions

Remember that:

- we use the same word order as in affirmative statements when we report questions and we do not add an auxiliary verb.
✓ I asked him how he caught the robber.
✗ I asked him how did he catch the robber.
- we use if when we report questions without a question word.
✓ I asked him if he was scared.
✗ I asked him was he scared.
- we don't use the preposition to after ask.
✓ They asked me why I was there.
✗ They asked to me why I was there.
- we don't use a question mark at the end of reported questions.

2 Are the reported questions correct? Correct the incorrect questions.

- 1 The police officer asked me where did I live.
The police officer asked me where I lived.
- 2 My teacher asked me if have I any plans for the summer holidays.

- 5 My teacher asked me why am I always late for lessons.

- 6 My mum and dad asked to me where was I last night.

crime

Remember that:

- we use crime (without the or a) to talk about illegal activities in general.
✓ CCTV cameras often help prevent crime.
✗ CCTV cameras often help prevent the crime.
- we use the crime to talk about a particular crime we have mentioned before, and a crime or crimes to talk about particular examples of criminal activity.
✓ Graffiti is a crime in a lot of countries.
✗ Graffiti is crime in a lot of countries.
- we use the verb commit with crime. We do not use do or make.
✓ I am guilty of committing the crime.
✗ I am guilty of doing the crime.
- we use criminal(s) to talk about people who commit a crime. We always use the plural (with -s) or the/a when we talk about someone like this.
✓ The police said he was a criminal.
✗ The police said he was criminal.

Starter Unit

Past simple vs. past continuous

- We gebruiken de past simple voor gebeurtenissen en handelingen uit het verleden die zijn voltooid.
Daniel visited Italy two years ago.
- We gebruiken de past continuous als we het hebben over handelingen in het verleden die gedurende enige tijd werden uitgevoerd.
At eight o'clock, I was waiting for the train.
- We gebruiken ook de past continuous in combinatie met when en while als we de situatie beschrijven op het moment dat iets gebeurde.
When we arrived, Granddad was sleeping on the sofa.
While we were getting ready to go out, it started raining.

Present perfect and past simple

- We gebruiken de past simple om te praten over handelingen en ervaringen in een periode die is afgelopen.
In 2009, my little sister was born.
- We gebruiken de present perfect als we praten over ervaringen en feiten uit het verleden in een periode die niet is afgelopen (nog steeds voortduurt).
She's bought a lot of new clothes this year.
- We gebruiken de present perfect ook wanneer het exacte tijdstip van een handeling uit het verleden niet wordt vermeld of niet belangrijk is.
You've left the light on in your room.

Present perfect with still, yet, already and just

- We gebruiken still in ontkennende zinnen om uit te drukken dat iets dat we verwachten nog niet is gebeurd, maar volgens ons wel gaat gebeuren. We zetten still meteen na het onderwerp.
David still hasn't texted me about this weekend.
- We gebruiken yet in ontkennende zinnen om te benadrukken dat iets dat we verwachten nog niet is gebeurd. We zetten yet over het algemeen aan het einde van de zin.
Lauren hasn't asked her parents about the party yet.
- We gebruiken yet ook als we vragen naar dingen die volgens ons niet zijn gebeurd.
Have you bought tickets for the football match yet?
- We gebruiken already om uit te leggen dat iets al is gebeurd voordat we dat verwachtten of om te benadrukken dat het is gebeurd. We zetten already meestal tussen have/has en het voltooid deelwoord.
Hurry up! James and Lily have already arrived.
- We gebruiken just met de present perfect bij zeer recente gebeurtenissen en handelingen. We zetten just tussen have/has en het voltooid deelwoord.
I've just heard that you won the race. Well done!

Word order in questions

- We vormen de meeste vragen met (vragend voornaamwoord) + hulpwerkwoord + onderwerp + werkwoordelijk deel.
How long do they spend online every day?
Are you going to the concert with friends tomorrow?
- Bij het vormen van vragen met be in de present en past simple gebruiken we (vragend voornaamwoord) + be + onderwerp.
Where were you yesterday?
Are you worried about something?

Subject/object questions

- We gebruiken geen hulpwerkwoord wanneer het vragend voornaamwoord het onderwerp is.
Who gave you that pen? ('Karl gave me it.')
What makes you happy? ('Spending time with my friends makes me happy.')
- We gebruiken een hulpwerkwoord wanneer het vragend voornaamwoord niet het onderwerp is.
What did you do at the weekend? ('We went shopping and for a pizza.')
Who do you want to win the football match? ('I want Liverpool to win.')

Present perfect with ever, never, for and since

- We gebruiken vaak ever bij vragen in de present perfect wanneer het exacte tijdstip niet belangrijk is. We zetten ever meteen na het onderwerp.
Has she ever helped you with your homework?
- We gebruiken vaak never om 'op geen enkel moment' aan te geven. We plaatsen never tussen have/has en het voltooid deelwoord.
He's never been to New York.
- We gebruiken for en since met de present perfect om aan te geven hoe lang iets al het geval is. We gebruiken for om te verwijzen naar een periode en since om te verwijzen naar een specifiek tijdstip.
She's lived here for seven years.
He's worked here since 2007.

Present perfect questions

- Bij het vormen van vragen in de present perfect gebruiken we (vragend voornaamwoord) + have/has + onderwerp + voltooid deelwoord.
Has John asked you about borrowing your sleeping bag?
Why have you brought sandwiches?
Have they arrived yet?
Have you ever been to Australia?
How long has she lived in Brazil?

Unit 4

First conditional with if, when and unless

Situatie	Gevolg
(if + present simple)	(will/won't/may/might + infinitive)
+ If you make lunch,	I'll cook dinner.
- If you don't make lunch,	I won't cook dinner.
Gevolg	Situatie
(will/won't/may/might + infinitive)	(if + present simple)
+ I'll cook dinner	if you make lunch.
- I won't cook dinner	if you don't make lunch.

- We gebruiken de first conditional bij waarschijnlijke situaties in het heden of de toekomst en om aan te geven wat volgens ons de gevolgen zullen zijn.
- We gebruiken if + present simple (bevestigend of ontkennend) voor het beschrijven van de mogelijke handeling of gebeurtenis.
If I eat cheese, I won't be able to sleep.
- Als we zeker weten dat iets gaat gebeuren, gebruiken we when, niet if.
When we get home, I'll look for information on the website.
- We kunnen ook unless gebruiken als we except if bedoelen. We gebruiken vaak een bevestigende zin na unless.
If Dad isn't busy at work, he'll be home at 6.30.
Unless Dad is busy at work, he'll be home at 6.30.
- We gebruiken will (not) als we zeker zijn van het gevolg.
You'll learn lots of good English expressions if you watch films and TV series.
- We gebruiken may/might (not) als we niet helemaal zeker weten wat het gevolg zal zijn.
If we go out for dinner, I may have steak or I might have fish. I don't know!
- Als we if, when of unless aan het begin van de zin gebruiken, zetten we een komma tussen de twee zinsdelen.
When I finish my homework, I'll help Olivia with hers.

- 1 Maak de zinnen af met de juiste vorm van het werkwoord tussen haakjes.

Unit 7

Third conditional

Onwaarschijnlijke situatie in het verleden	Onwaarschijnlijk gevolg in het verleden
(if + past perfect)	(would have + voltooid deelwoord)
+ If I had seen your email,	I would have called you.
- If I hadn't seen your email,	I wouldn't have called you.
Onwaarschijnlijk gevolg in het verleden	Onwaarschijnlijke situatie in het verleden
(would have + voltooid deelwoord)	(if + past perfect)
+ I would have called you	if I had seen your email.
- I wouldn't have called you	if I hadn't seen your email.

- We gebruiken de third conditional als we praten over onwaarschijnlijke situaties in het verleden en de onwaarschijnlijke gevolgen ervan.
- We gebruiken if + past perfect (bevestigend of ontkennend) voor het beschrijven van de onwaarschijnlijke situatie in het verleden.
The story would have been better if the hero hadn't guessed that Martha was a witch.
- We gebruiken would (not) + have + voltooid deelwoord als we zeker zijn van het onwaarschijnlijke gevolg in het verleden.
We would have seen my brother's new car if he'd been at home.
- We gebruiken de third conditional vaak om te praten over dingen waarvan we spijt hebben.
If I hadn't posted the photo on Facebook, my parents wouldn't have found out.
- We vormen vragen over de onwaarschijnlijke gevolgen van onwaarschijnlijke situaties in het verleden met if + past perfect, (vragend voornaamwoord) + would (not) + subject + have + voltooid deelwoord.
If you'd known the battery was so bad, would you have bought the same mobile?
What would you have done differently if you'd been there?

1 Maak elke zin af met de juiste vorm van de werkwoordcombinaties uit het kader.

- If I more time, I more.

must have, can't have, might/may/could have

- We gebruiken vaak must have, can't have, might/may/could have + voltooid deelwoord om uit te leggen waarom iets gebeurde of om aan te geven wat volgens ons is gebeurd.
My parents can't have forgotten my birthday, so they must have planned a surprise.
He may have asked Angelo, or he might have asked Paulo. He can't remember!
- We gebruiken must have als we denken dat onze uitleg bijna zeker klopt.
She isn't answering my texts. She must have gone to bed.
- We gebruiken can't have om een uitleg voor het gebeurde af te wijzen.
She can't have told him. She doesn't know.
- We gebruiken might/may/could have als we denken dat onze uitleg waarschijnlijk wel klopt.
I might have left it on the bus. I don't remember putting it back in my bag.
They may have gone to the pool. It's very hot today.
Ben could have decided not to come. Or perhaps his train is late.
- We gebruiken ook could have om uit te leggen waarom iets misschien is gebeurd.
You could have downloaded a file with a virus, so we'll check that first.
- We vormen ja/nee-vragen met could + subject + have + voltooid deelwoord.
Could aliens have visited our planet without us knowing?
- We vormen open vragen met vragend voornaamwoord + must/can't/might/may/could + have + voltooid deelwoord.

Unit 8

Reported statements

- Wanneer we verwijzen naar wat iemand gezegd heeft, moeten we vaak de werkwoordsvorm veranderen.

Directe rede	Indirecte rede
Present simple 'I want a new bike.'	Past simple She said (that) she wanted a new bike.
Present perfect 'They' ve never told anyone.'	Past perfect He said (that) they had never told anyone.
Past simple 'They spent the night in a police cell.'	Past perfect You told me (that) they had spent the night in a police cell.
will 'They' ll give us a book to read.'	would You told us (that) they would give us a book to read.
can 'I can help him.'	could She said (that) she could help him.

- We moeten vaak ook andere woorden veranderen, zoals voornaamwoorden en tijdsaanduidingen.
'I'll show you the false passports tomorrow.'
He said he'd show me the false passports the next day.'
'You didn't see me last weekend.'
She told us that we hadn't seen her the weekend before.'
- We hoeven de werkwoordsvorm niet te veranderen als de situatie nu nog voortduurt of denkbeeldig is.
'My name is Sophia.'
She said that her name is Sophia.
'If I committed a crime, I wouldn't talk about it online.'
He said that if he committed a crime, he wouldn't talk about it online.

1 Herschrijf de indirecte rede in de directe rede.

- He told us that he was very sorry. 'I ~~am very sorry~~.'
- The police said they'd caught the criminals. 'We'
- Evan and Abby told me they could help me look after my cousin. 'We'
- I said that I would call him after 5 o'clock. 'I'
- We told her that he loved listening to music. 'He'

Reported questions

- Bij het navertellen van een vraag veranderen we de werkwoordsvormen, voornaamwoorden en tijdsaanduidingen vaak op dezelfde wijze als bij de indirecte rede.

- Wanneer we een vraag navertellen met een vragend voornaamwoord, voegen we geen hulpwerkwoord toe en blijft de volgorde van de woorden hetzelfde als in bevestigende zinnen.
He asked me what I'd done at the weekend. He asked me what had I done at the weekend.
- Bij het navertellen van ja/nee-vragen gebruiken we if.
'Did you tell the truth?'
They asked him if he'd told the truth.
- We gebruiken bij reported questions geen vraagteken.
'Where did you go after school?'
My parents asked me where I'd been after school.

2 Herschrijf de vragen in de vorm van reported questions.

- 'Do you know anybody at this party?' They asked me if I knew anybody at the party.
- 'How long will you be in Italy for Simon?' She
- 'Joe, how much money did they steal?' He
- 'Can you tell me your password?' Dad
- 'What do you want for your birthday?' They

Indirect questions

Directe open vraag	Indirect question
Where is the bank?	Can/Could you tell me	where the bank is?
	Can/Could I ask you
	I was wondering	where the bank is.
Directe ja/nee-vragen	Indirect question
Do you know this man?	Can/Could you tell me if	you know this man?
	Can/Could I ask you if
	I was wondering if	you know this man.

- Indirecte vragen komen zachter en beleefder over dan directe vragen. In het eerste deel van indirecte vragen gebruiken we vaste zinsdelen, zoals Can/Could you tell me ... ?, Do you know ... ? en I was wondering ....
- Bij het vormen van indirecte vragen met een vragend voornaamwoord voegen we geen hulpwerkwoord toe en blijft de volgorde van de woorden hetzelfde als bij bevestigende zinnen.
I was wondering where the kidnappers hid. I was wondering where did the kidnappers hide.
- We vormen indirecte ja/nee-vragen met if.
Can I ask you if you think she was brave?

3 Corrigeer de fout in elke zin.

- I was wondering do you have this shirt in a medium. if
- Can you tell us where is the market?
- Excuse me, do you know what time it starts the film?
- I was wondering that you could help me.
- Can I ask you how long did you wait there?
