KET - Key English Test

KET, the first-level Cambridge ESOL exam (at Level A2 of the Council of Europe's Common European Framework of Reference for Languages), is an excellent first step to help you measure your progress and build your confidence in English and then progress towards the Preliminary English Test (PET) and the rest of the Cambridge ESOL examinations.

The test proves you can cope with spoken and written English at a basic level. It covers all four language skills, reading, writing, listening and speaking. The language used in the test comes from real-life situations. It will help you learn the English you need for study and work situations as well as travel.

Cambridge KET (Key English Test) is a valuable qualification since universities and employers all over the world recognise Cambridge ESOL exams.

Questions 21-27

the article about vitamins boosting students' brainpower. Are sentences 21-27 'Right' (A) or 'Wrong' (B)? is not enough information to answer 'Right' (A) or 'Wrong' (B), choose 'Doesn't say' (C).

Vitamins that boosted student's brainpower

A secondary school has claimed to have improved their students' reading and writing skills by giving the children vitamins.

Children took the vitamins and had three extra lessons during the three month experiment. The children who took the vitamins could read and write better than those who didn't. The children were also able to concentrate better on their homework.

The children were tested on their reading and writing skills before and after the experiment. Teachers found that after the experiment 58% of the children had improved their reading skills and 38% had improved their spelling and writing skills.

Teachers believe that the experiment shows how a poor diet with not many vitamins affects children's learning. The school now has lessons teaching the children how to eat healthy.

Say:

- Where you bought them
- Why you like them and how much they cost

Trite 25-35 words.

Exam Tips

When you have finished writing there are a number of things you should check.

First of all, read through what you have written and check for spelling problems. Then look at the punctuation.

Have you got sentences that are far too long, or that need a comma?

Do the verbs agree with the subject? Is your use of word order correct or have you written in the syntax of your native language?

Finally, check your use of tenses to see if they are correct and appropriate.

Miracle at Sea

A group of friends went on holiday to the South of France. The weather was good, so the friends decided to rent a car and spend the day on the beach. Jonathan kept the car keys in his pocket. Hours passed and Jonathan forgot he had the car keys in his pocket. He went swimming, played beach volleyball and sunbathed.

It was getting dark so the friends decided to go home. Jonathan went to unlock the car door but he had lost the keys!

Swimming in the sea was a boy wearing a snorkel and a mask. Jonathan asked the boy to help him find his keys. The boy dived deep down to the bottom of the sea. A few seconds later the boy appeared holding Jonathan's car keys.

The friends were so happy and grateful for the boy's help that they bought him a big ice cream to say thank you.

Conker Bonkers

A headmaster has told children they must wear special glasses to protect their eyes if they play a game called conkers. Children enjoying donkey rides in Bognor Regis must wear hard hats. And a school in Aberdeen has stopped children from playing football, claiming that the children got too hot and muddy.

Derby City council has told schools to cancel trips if it's too sunny to stop the children from getting sunburnt. A school in London has stopped children from picking flowers and making daisy chains just in case they pick up germs. A school in Wiltshire has banned homemade cakes from the school fete for fear of food poisoning.

These examples sound so crazy that they could be made up, but trust me they are true!

DOGS ESCAPE FROM RESCUE CENTRE

The mystery of the unlocked cages at a rescue centre for dogs had the staff scratching their heads as much as the dogs scratch themselves.

Just how were up to nine dogs at a time getting out of their locked cages at night and helping themselves to food and treats from the kitchen?

Some of the staff even wondered if they had a ghost living at the rescue centre who was letting the dogs out. To solve the mystery they placed a camera in the building to see what went on at night. An hour after the staff had left, a friendly, wily dog of mainly greyhound descent named Red, was caught on camera opening his cage, then going to the other dogs' cages and opening them.

Red was a very clever dog, after watching the staff unlock and open his cage each day to take him for walks and to feed him, he soon worked out how to open it himself. It wasn't long before Red was able to open the cages of his 'friends' so that each night they could all feast and play together while the staff were at home fast asleep!

PART 4 Questions 21-27

Read the text about Madame Tussauds, the famous wax museum in London. Are sentences 21-27 'Right' (A) or 'Wrong' (B)? If there is not enough information to answer 'Right' (A) or 'Wrong' (B), choose 'Doesn't say' (C). For questions 21-27, mark A, B or C.

MADAME TUSSAUDS

Madame Tussauds is a famous wax museum in London with branches in a number of major cities. It has a lot of famous people made from wax. Wax is a solid substance that becomes soft when warm and melts easily. It comes from bees and is often used to make candles. Many people visit wax museums because the sculptures look like they are real.

A visit to Madame Tussauds wouldn't be complete without meeting the Royal Family. Dating back over ten centuries, the Monarchy has played an important role in the UK, but rather than reading all about it in a dusty history book you'll meet history's royalties face to face at Madame Tussauds! You can plant a kiss on Prince William's cheek, or shake Prince Charles's hand.

Of course the late Queen Mother and Diana, Princess of Wales are here too looking as beautiful as ever.

Finally, travel back in time to the Tudor times. Ever heard of Henry VIII? He ruled England in the sixteenth century and is mostly known for his six wives and for declaring himself head of the new Church of England.

PART 4 Questions 21-27

Read the article about energy. Are sentences 21-27 'Right' (A) or 'Wrong' (B)? If there is not enough information to answer 'Right' (A) or 'Wrong' (B), choose 'Doesn't say' (C). For questions 21-27, mark A, B or C.

Good sources of energy

People need energy so we can turn on our lights, use our computers, cook our food, and lots more. Some ways of getting the energy we need for our electricity are better than others. There isn't enough coal and oil to last us forever, and taking them out of the ground is bad for the environment.

The best sources of energy don't hurt the environment and won't run out. In places where it is often sunny, we can use energy from the sun. We can also use water power from rivers and from waves in the sea. In windy places we can use wind power. These sources of energy don't cause pollution.

We always have to be careful of the environment when we get our energy. For example, we shouldn't put wind machines where we know lots of birds will be flying, because they might fly into the machines. But if we choose the right kind of energy in the right place, we will have good, clean energy for the future.

Paper 3 - Speaking (Time: 8-10 minutes per pair of candidates)

PART 1

(5 - 6 minutes) Introducing Yourself

The first part of the test takes 5 - 6 minutes and you have to show that you can use the English you need when you meet someone for the first time.

- What's your name?
- Where do you live?
- What is your town like?
- Do you work or are you a student?
- Do you enjoy learning English?
- How long have you been studying English?

PART 2

(3-4 minutes) Prompt card activity

This part takes 3 to 4 minutes and you have to talk to the other candidate. The examiner will give you a prompt card like the one below and you have to ask and answer questions.

Example:

The examiner reads out these instructions and gives a question card to Candidate B and an answer card to Candidate A.

Candidate A, here is some information about a horse riding centre.

Candidate B, you don't know anything about the centre, so ask A some questions about it.

Now B, ask A your questions about the horse riding centre and A you answer them.

Candidate A - your answers

SUNNY TRAILS HORSE RIDING CENTRE

Only ,£15

Wear good shoes.

Candidate B - your questions

HORSE RIDING

- name?
- now long / ride?
- where?
- what / wear?
- cost?

The examiner will stop the interaction after 4 or 5 questions have been asked and answered. A different set of prompt cards is then given out, so that Candidate A has the opportunity to ask questions and Candidate B to answer them. In this example, the questions are about a rock concert.

Candidate B, here is some information about a flower shop.

Candidate A, you don't know anything about the flower shop, so ask B some questions about it.

Now A, ask B your questions about the flower shop and B, you answer them.

Candidate B - your answers
